DIRECTORS OF THE STATE FAIR HOLD A LOVE FEAST.

Big Orders for Tickets - What th Horsemen Have to Say-Partial List of Special Attractions

An important meeting of the executive committe of the State Fair association was held yesterday at the office of the secretary and every member presen was not only encouraged, but he was enthusiastic over the meeting this fall. And they had much to cause them to feel as thought the hard work they had devoted to the success of the great state fair, without one cent remuneration for people of Southern Kansas, and that now they found willing hands in every direction ready and willing to push the ed and realistic success

The secretary read the reports from e large number of township superintendents, showing how the work was being pushed in their neighborhoods and how the action of the executive committee in placing the admission for families of for at only 25 cents, and the admission of children under 10 years of age free had made every farmer in their neigh-borhood determined to attend the meet-ing. That they would not only attend, but were determined to make exhibits One township superintendent said that they had corn in his town-ship with ears that would shell a peck and were thirty-six inches in length, while three men had raised Irish po-batoes so large that one end could be placed in the fire and roasted while a person sat on the other end and far enough from the fire to keep perfectly cool, and that if the secretary would grant them room enough upon the fair grounds that they would bring the largest sweet potatoes to the fair ever exhibited on earth, and want the executive committe to prepare plenty of room as the farmers this year would make an exhibit which would simply be worth of course this made the executive committee feel good, but when the sec-retary began to read letters from the wholesale merchants, as well as those from the city asking that board to issue to them blocks of tickets in bunches of from 50 to 200 Mr. Throckmorton could restrain his enthusiasm no longer, but cried out: "Amen!" and the big tears of gratifude stood out in bold reflection upon the weather-beaten cheek of Presi-Powell, and Dr. Johnson gave a grin that was simply immense and show ed that William J. Bryan was not the only man of prominence who had an unusually large mouth.

"They are all coming," said Secretary Smith, "and I want to tell you, gentle-men, that I have secured some of the finest attractions that were ever given upon the fair grounds of any state in the Union. The horse men are simply carried away with the prospects of the next Kansas fair and they are not only coming with the hopes of carring away the purses, but to break records. They all realize that the track here is one of the best in the world and with the work that is being done on it this year it will not only be one of the best, but the fastest. I wish you could hear them

"I have also secured Prof. Simpson the greatest aerenaut in the world, who will not only make balloon ascensions each day of the fair, but when the balloon is a thousand feet in the air the the professor will be shot from a cannon and descend in his parachute..
"I also secured Prof. Nash, the great-who attend the fair will simply see the greatest riding on earth. There will be chariot races, and, and,-well, just walt and see how the 20,000 people who attend the fair go wild over the specialties that will be given."

Then the board got down to business and the secretary was kept busy making notes of what would transpire. They first changed the rules so that all records made after Sept. I, would not inter-fere with the horses entering the taces ed at that time; that 5 per cent should be paid when the entry was made and 5 per cent the evening previous to the they ordered lithographs agreed to secure W P McNair for starter provided he would leave the coast anthey could not secure him that O. P. pdegraff of Topeka would be the man Dr. Johnson promised to put up a good and sufficient bond that he would give the association good weather all week.
